Declaration for CE marking of our products according to directive 2006/42/EG

Dear Sir or Madam,

The elastic couplings manufactured by us are not intended for a specific application, but for installation in machines, Directive 2006/42/EC, is therefore not applicable here. The complete machine in which our components are installed must meet the basic health and safety requirements. The machine manufacturer is responsible for selecting the component with the appropriate specifications and characteristics.

According to Regulation (EC) 765/2008, the CE marking may only be affixed to products for which specific Community harmonisation legislation requires it to be affixed. The affixing on other products is prohibited.

In case of queries please contact us by phone: +49 9372 9864-0 | email: info@rw-kupplungen.de

Kind regards
